Initial Project Idea:

Space Restaurant - Nuke N' Nibbles

A restaurant that has ridiculous ingredients on its menu that are clearly not meant for human consumption. I got the idea when I accidentally put a ridiculously large number of calories when making my burger document in my database, and figured it could only have that many calories if it had something like uranium in it. So I just ran with it and made the entire menu completely toxic for human consumption. I made a logo and made up a fake "About Nuke N' Nibbles" story, along with promises and practices that ran with my theme. Here is the logo I created to match the toxic vibe:
